Presentation Style Comments

You seemed a little rushed but you made up for the other seminars going long so I appreciated it

Nice job on presentation style. Good pace, good eye contact. I could tell that she was comfortable after just a minute or two into the presentation.

Good job at keeping the audience involved.

I really liked how she did not rely heavily on her notes, she was able to freely talk through the presentation, this also allowed for good eye contact with her audience through out

She had a great pace presenting the material and she displayed professionalism and confidence.

Great job! Great pace and time management so we didn't end up going over.

She kept the attention of a audience that had been there for s long time already

I liked your informal presentation style--it was lively and not stiff.

Erin did a good job presenting the material at an appropriate pace and level for the audience.

Great pace and confidence in presentation.

She had thorough eye contact which was refreshing since most seminarians have struggled with this.

The seminarian went through some of the sections fast, but that may be due to the time constraint. (Not the seminarian's fault)

At times the pace was really quick but I think you had to do that due to the amount of time that was left over for you.

Well paced.

Erin was very comfortable in her presentation style, and conveyed the material effectively.

Maybe it was because the other groups went over time but I felt you were rushed in your presentation

Engaged the audience with the quiz, which was great

Great presenter, very professional style

Good job moving around the front of the room rather than just standing on one place.

Good pacing. Minimal reliance on notes. Material was appropriate for the audience.

I really enjoy the way Erin did on her presentation, great pace and interesting topic!

Instructional Materials Comments

I liked your animations and graphics good use of pictures and charts

Some of the figures in the back were fussy and hard to read.

I did not notice any errors in the handout that distracted from their content

She had great charts, graphs, and pictures which helped in better understanding of the material. Having more clear pictures and charts and graphs in the back of the handouts (the appendix section) will be easier for the audience to follow the presentation.

Loved the graphics on your slides! Kept it interesting and entertaining

The use of tables in the slides was a visual difference from other presentations, I liked it

I liked your slides. Clean and simple. The handout was good. Maybe next time scan the images in high resolution and then edit them.

Her slides and handout were very easy to read. I like the pictures she used in her handout and presentation.

Good job orientating us to charts with boxing in the important information and I really liked the animation that showed the possible mechanism of action of baclofen.

She could have included more references on the topic (She only had 7 or so). Even if it was just for a little more background on what baclofen is normally used for and it's effectiveness for other conditions. I really liked the figures she included and the structural relationship she made between GABA and baclofen.

Some of the pictures in the appendix were not legible. The seminarian can probably zoom out a little bit.

Some of the images were blurry in the appendix, but slides were really easy to read. There wasn't too much material on each slide. The structure of the compounds and how they matched up was a great representation that made us want to pay attention to you.

Handout and slides were put together well.

The slides were very well organized, and I loved the format of the handout with the three studies parallel to each other for comparison! My only recommendation would involve acquiring higher resolution images for some of the tables taken from the primary literature.

This is the best handout of the semester so far. I really liked the comparison of the three studies

The handout appendix was very blurry and not very easy to read, but presentation slides were good

Handout format was very useful in comparing studies

I really liked the animation used to show how baclofen pharmacologically work for helping with alcohol withdrawal. The handout was easy to follow but some of the images in the back are difficult to read.

Slides were easy to follow. The appendices in the handout were slightly difficult to read. Everything was referenced appropriately.

Great slides, all important parts can be seen clearly from the back.

5	Well organized presentations and smooth transitions (appropriate 'flow')	21	0	0	0	0	0	0	7

Overall Presentation Content Comments

You could have talked more about a hospital setting since that was your objective good job with transitions and just the right amount of background info

Overall good job at presenting and keeping the subject interesting.

I personally really liked the flow, this I believe came more from her comfort level while presenting over anything else. There were not any periods of hiccups during the presentation that would cause her audience to lose interest.

Her introduction and interest in topic was thorough and she defined the purpose and the controversy associated with the topic really well. Her slides had smooth transitions and appropriate flow.

Great topic, controversy was well defined

The controversy and background were very well described

Interesting and relevant topic that doesn't really get too much attention.

Erin did a good job presenting background information and explaining her interest in the topic. I like that she mentioned the physician who treated himself with baclofen.

Great background information and describing the controversy.

I liked the background information on the doctor who self treated himself with baclofen for alcohol withdrawal. It made her seminar even more interesting and unique.

The objectives were clear and covered.

Your presentation went smoothly and the background information was great. It really helped me understand the importance of preventing a relapse and what ways we can't prevent that.

Background information was interesting and relevant as well as presented well.

Erin had a great pace throughout the presentation, and supplemented with humor as appropriate. This really helped engage the audience in the presentation.

You got me hooked with the brief yet informative background

Very good flow throughout the entire presentation!

Seminarian met all of her objectives and had smooth transitions during her seminar.

Good speed and flow of presentation. Spent an appropriate amount of time on background info.

Clearly defined interest and controversy. The appropriate amount of background information was given.

Objectives are clear, smooth transitions between each section. Erin also provides other approved treatments so that audience can make own judgement about the place of therapy of Baclofen.

Presentation of Clinical Data

1	Presented concise objectives, methodology and treatment for each study	21	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	7
2	Outcome measures were stated and described, and appropriateness was explained	20	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	6.95
3	Presented key trial results with corresponding statistical analysis	21	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	7

6	Provided a detailed & thoughtful analysis of study strengths and limitations	21	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	7

Presentation of Clinical Data Comments

Great analysis of data. You explained the tests used and what the values meant excellent work on clinical data presentation. This is often the hardest part of study critique, and I could tell Erin knows how to do this task and present it in a manner that makes sense

Good job at interpreting and evaluating the data to form your own conclusion.

She was able to clearly point out the weaknesses and strengths of the studies, and was not bashful about pointing the flaws out, I really liked this as she addressed the concerns I personally had while the studies were being presented.

Her presentation on the clinical data was thorough and she explained the sample size and strength and limitations really well.

Loved how you did three trials, but you were able to fit them all in to your seminar within the allotted time.

Erin had to with more challenging studies but she explained the details very well

Simple, straightforward and to the point.

Erin did a good job explaining the statistics and whether or not they were appropriate for the data. She also did well explaining strengths and limitations of her studies.

Excellent job presenting the studies. I liked how you discussed the statistical tests and why they were appropriate. Also discussed why power was important for the study that did not find a statistical difference.

I liked how confident she was when it came to discussing statistics and she knew which tests were appropriate to use for each scenario.

The seminarian did a great job at grouping and comparing all of her studies in the handout.

I liked that you spoke on the statistical tests and why it was appropriate for the particular study. You even spoke about the odds ratio which was a great refresher for me!

Statistical analysis was discussed thoroughly.

Erin provided an excellent analysis of the statistical measures used in her studies, and provided the perfect amount of background knowledge without weighing down her presentation with extraneous information.

Very clear explanations of the studies which made it very easy to follow your logic

Analysis of the studies was well done, and the side-by-side comparison was also helpful

Very well organized clinical data and statistical analysis was thoroughly thought out

Did an excellent job explaining why specific statistical tests were appropriate (or not appropriate) for particular data sets.

Great work analyzing the studies. Thoughtful discussion of strengths and limitations as well as the methods.

All study strengths and limitations of each study are given appropriately. Statistic data and significance are discussed during the presentation.

Conclusions

#	Question	A	A-	B+	B	B-	C+	C	Mean
1	Conclusions are supported by data presented in the seminar	20	1	0	0	0	0	0	6.95
2	Clinical importance and application of the study is discussed	20	1	0	0	0	0	0	6.95
3	Provided specific recommendations for clinical pharmacy practice	19	2	0	0	0	0	0	6.9
4	Discussed the role of the pharmacist and/or impact to the profession of pharmacy in regards to the use of the treatment	20	1	0	0	0	0	0	6.95

Conclusions Comments

I liked the conclusion that you drew from the data

I would like to have received some more direct suggestions as to how I might apply this to clinical practice

You told us how applicable the studies were and what you would do in practice which was great.

Again I did not see any deductions needed for these categories. While I had some reservations on what the studies added to the topic of alcohol abstinence/cessation, when the three studies were compared and expanded on, she did not simply take the results and regurgitate them. She looked at what they showed, but also looked at what they didn't and I thought she made logical recommendations after she had thoroughly examined these studies.

She had a really useful chart pointing out the specific recommendations for clinical pharmacy practice and what the first-line and second-line and third-line treatments should be when alcohol abuse is of concern.

Loved how you summarized the data and gave us what your stepwise approach would be in recommending this therapy

Conclusions were appropriate. However, when asked about the max dose for baclofen, I'd suggest to stick to what the studies went through

I liked her summary slide with the treatment options ranked.

She did a good job at drawing appropriate conclusions from her data and explaining the role of the pharmacist with regards to her topic.

I really liked the pharmacist role slide with where baclofen therapy fits into treatment compared to other treatments.

I really liked her display of recommendations for clinical pharmacy practice. Her chart/algorithm made her viewpoints very clear and meaningful.

The seminar did a great job at concluding her seminar with the information that she gathered.

The way you presented the pharmacist role was amazing! I really liked that you broke it down into multiple scenarios. This allowed us to analyze each situation and what would be best for each patient.

Conclusions weren't very well presented or decisive. I would have liked a more firm conclusion.

Erin did a wonderful job helping the audience to place the controversial use of baclofen among currently accepted therapies for alcohol withdrawal.

Strong conclusions, supported by the data. I especially liked the two charts showing the progression of treatment and the costs which supported the conclusions nicely.

Made a good conclusion based on the data she found and not just what the studies said

Great conclusions, very well thought out recommendation for the place of baclofen therapy in alcohol withdrawal

The flow chart showing the pharmacist's role was a great addition and made your conclusion and recommendations for when to use baclofen clear.

Conclusions were supported by the available data. Presenter related the findings into pharmaceutical/clinical practice.

Clear conclusion with clinical data

Question Answer Session

#	Question	A	A-	B+	B	B-	C+	C	Mean
1	Succinctly, yet thoroughly answered audience questions	18	3	0	0	0	0	0	6.86
2	Encouraged questions and interaction with the audience	19	2	0	0	0	0	0	6.9

Question Answer Session Comments

You were able to think on your feet and did a really good job of answering audience questions

Great job answering questions.

You could tell from the questions that you knew the subject well.

She encourage the audience to be involved throughout the presentation and asked for questions on many occasions. Yet, while this may not be truly her fault, when some questions were asked in regards to contrasting the three studies as a whole she seemed to not have fully investigate some of the possible questions that I thought were likely to come up.

She encouraged questions and involved the audience. She answered the audience questions really well and whenever she was uncertain of an answer, she wouldn't make up an answer.

Great job with questions - Sometimes when you paused for questions, moved along a little too fast...try the count to 5 in your mind slowly trick

Erin was great and honest about answering questions.

Nice job handling questions.

Erin did a good job encouraging questions and participation from the audience.

Very well prepared and knowledgeable on the topic.

She did seek to answer audience questions but did seem to struggle on a few of them.

The seminarian answer all the questions thoroughly.

The only issue here was that you cut off a questioner but made up for it by coming back to the question and asking if anyone else had a question. Great job!

Be better prepared for questions. The very first question was handled very poorly.

Erin provided the perfect number of question opportunities, and placed them throughout her presentation at intervals that were most conducive to the flow of her material.

You answered the questions well, however, I tried to ask a question between studies but in your rush through I was not called upon.

Answered a lot of questions and clearly knew a lot about her topic

Great job encouraging and answering questions.

Very confident in answering questions

Answered all questions thoroughly without much hesitation.

very straightforward presentation, Erin also encourages questions at end of each section.

Overall Knowledge Base

#	Question	A	A-	B+	B	B-	C+	C	Mean
1	Demonstrated knowledge of subject beyond the facts presented in the seminar	20	1	0	0	0	0	0	6.95
2	Student is able to distinguish the difference between clinical and statistical significance	20	1	0	0	0	0	0	6.95
3	Student is able to look beyond the author's conclusions and offer insight into the overall study results	21	0	0	0	0	0	0	7
4	Student is able to discuss conclusions in the context of previous research and in comparison to current practice/therapy	19	2	0	0	0	0	0	6.9
5	Student is able to think on his/her feet. May theorize if not sure of answer, but identifies answer as such	21	0	0	0	0	0	0	7

Overall Knowledge Base Comments

Great knowledge base. You were able to answer how the drug was metabolized when asked about toxicity knowledge base of the subject was clearly very sound

Knew the subject well and what you would do for a patient in a clinical situation.

I really liked her ability to look at the results with a critical eye and not fully take them in while coming up with her opinion of how the results of these studies could/should be implemented into practice

She had a great knowledge in this area and her knowledge of the subject was beyond the facts presented in the seminar. She had a really good knowledge of the clinical and statistical significance of data she presented.

Great job analyzing and summarizing the data!

She made good interpretation of what the studies contributed to the controversy

Erin appeared to have a strong knowledge base throughout the seminar.

Erin seemed to be able to theorize and answer questions without a problem.

Great overall knowledge base on the topic and discussing clinical significance of the results.

She demonstrated knowledge beyond the facts presented. It would have been nice to see a little more information on previous research but perhaps that was all there was on the subject.

The seminarian demonstrated thoroughly knowledge of the topic.

Every question was answered appropriately and with confidence. You created your own conclusion and what we as pharmacist need to do/prepare for.

I feel like there was a lack of overall familiarity with the studies. Questions asked that should have been simple were not because of limited familiarity with the studies.

I appreciated the background knowledge that Erin provided regarding usual amounts of alcohol consumption compared to those thresholds identified in the studies as inclusion criteria. She demonstrated respectful and tactful awareness of her audience who may not understand such a subtle point.

Very knowledgeable and kept the topic interesting

Erin clearly knew a lot about her topic and other available treatments which made her controversy that much more important /

Student did a great job examining the clinical data to draw her conclusions

Seemed to be very knowledgeable on the topic

Clearly demonstrated knowledge, and clearly related the information applicable to a clinical setting.

Erin has obtained enough knowledge to provide her own interpretations and understandings about this interesting topic.

Provide one comment on what you liked about this seminar

I liked that your conclusion was not simply "more studies are needed" but that you were able to find a place in therapy for the drug based on the limited data and I agree with your conclusion

The topic. This was different from the typical "drug and its standard use" seminar. I had never really considered baclofen as a means for aiding in alcohol withdrawal; this was quite interesting

Good presentation style and keeping audience engaged.

I really liked her flow. She was able to come off as being light hearted, but professional at the same time and she really knew the material.

I really liked how she involved the audience and had a few questions while presenting the subject. I also liked her highlighted boxes on the graphs and pictures and I thought they made the presentation interesting and easy to follow. The animation she used in her presentation was great and helped the audience understand the mechanism of action involved. She had everyone's attention while presenting. The way she addressed pharmacist's role and her recommendation was really helpful and not only she talked about the medication she was presenting but she also addressed the first, second, and third line of treatment with a chart.

Great job overall!! You were really animated and kept us awake for the last presentation

A great topic that included a population that need much help

Interesting and relevant topic. Nice clean slides.

This was a very interesting topic. Erin did a good job keeping the audience engaged and interested in her topic.

Very clear, easy to follow handout and great comparison charts between the studies all side by side.

I really liked the topic and how clear her final recommendations and clinical practice slides were.

The seminarian did a great job with the animations of her slides and the comparison of studies in the handout.

Your level of confidence was shown by the way you presented the material. I liked that you boxed/highlighted the important parts of the figures/tables/graphs. The level that you presented at was great for everyone to understand. This really helped us focus on your presentation, especially being the last of three presenters.

It was interesting topic and she is a good presenter.

I really liked the unique topic, and the timeliness of cost-effective alternatives for chronic disease therapy regimens.

Very applicable topic as there is a large problem with alcohol abuse. I really enjoyed it.

I liked the animation of the chemical structure

Great presentation style, great confidence throughout seminar

It was very interesting and you kept the audience engaged. Good job using the space in the front to move around Great audience involvement with the quiz and animatinos.

Erin definitely spent enough time on her topic so the entire presentation runs smoothly and enjoyable.

Provide one comment on what could be improved about this seminar

Probably everyone already said this but your appendix was hard to read in the handout cant really think of anything

Look at the handout and make sure that everything is easy to read and clear/quality.

Possibly look into likely questions a little more, but nobody is psychic and can anticipate every possible question out there.

I think the presentation was great and there wasn't any major area that needs to be changed except for maybe in the future, having a more readable and clear graphs and charts in the appendix section, in the back of the handout, can be something that can be improved.

Some of the images in the back were unreadable...just don't include them if they're that bad or re-create them no shots?

Graphics in the handout. Perhaps a slide near the end that mentions newer more experimental treatments for alcoholism, including ketamine and ibogaine.

At times, it seemed that her presentation could have gone a little bit smoother if she would have practiced a bit more. For the most part, she did a great job!

Some of the references were hard to read on the slides since they were in yellow.

She could have included a little more background data on baclofen and its MOA and uses for other conditions.

The seminarian could improve the pictures in her handout to make it legible.

The pace could have been slowed down just a bit and the images in the handout could have been fixed up.

I would have liked to feel more comfortable with her complete understanding of her studies.

The resolution of some images in the handout, otherwise a great presentation!

I would have liked you to go a little slower but probably because you were the 3rd of three

Having the pictures in the back of the handout be readable

Not at this time

The images in the handout could have been clearer, especially in the appendix

Maybe make the appendices more readable in the handout if possible.

It would be great if she can also varifies a few points from other sources (such as maximum dose Baclofen can be safely recommended).

General Comments

Great job. Last Seminar Ever!

overall, very nicely done

Very good job.

Overall I thought the presentation was a success and I found it difficult to find many areas of critique.
